WHAT IS THE CREDIT AND DEBT EXCHANGE?

The CREDIT AND DEBT EXCHANGE is a platform and strategy for recovering non-performing assets at or above book value, by providing debtor-issued bills of sale for tradable financial instruments to creditors, which are then converted to cash for the creditors, while helping debtors offset their debts without spending cash.

In other words, a Credit and Debt Exchange is a platform where a debtor-issued bill of sale is used as a tradable financial instrument, which is then converted to cash to pay off the debtor's outstanding debts.

AS A CREDITOR,

You can now recover all your bad loans, distressed assets, and non-collectible receivables at their full book value, with no loss and no write-down, in 24 hours, using THE CREDIT AND DEBT EXCHANGE.

WHAT MAKES THE CREDIT AND DEBT EXCHANGE

SO EFFECTIVE IN DEBT RECOVERY?

Collecting cash from debtors can be challenging, time-consuming, and unpleasant. Particularly when they don't have sufficient cash flow to pay their debts!

World Trade Exchange has solved this challenge with a unique debt collection model that guarantees that you can recover the full cash value of loans to debtors, even when they don't have cash to meet their debt obligations.

The World Trade Exchange collection model enables debt recovery from debtor businesses that are even insolvent.

IT IS COMMON FOR A DEBTOR TO HAVE SURPLUS STOCK BUT NOT SURPLUS CASH!

The strategy of the Credit and Debt Exchange is very effective because you are required to give your business debtors (those in debt distress), the option of paying off 100% of their outstanding debt obligations with their products or services.

In other words, you don't badger the debtor for cash that they don't have. Instead, you ask them to pay their debts with the excess products and services that they do have.

To receive their products or services as payment and final settlement of their debts, you don't have to take physical possession of their products.

The ownership of the products is transferred to you, the creditor, via a conditional bill of sale as payment and final settlement of the debt owed (on the condition that it will be converted to cash for you, within a specific timeframe). CDE can assist you to create a tradable financial instrument based on the conditional bill of sale.

CDE will then sell the tradable financial instrument for cash, and repay the creditor cash – 100% of the amount they were owed.

What makes the CDE solution even more amazing, is that we drive new business and sales revenue from new customers to the debtor. A true win/win scenario!

Do you know of any debtor that will resist an offer for them to pay off their debt obligations using their products or services in such a way that will cause them to actually pay 40% to 60% less than the actual debt owed?

The irresistible

'24-hour Debt Repayment'

proposal that is accepted

every time, by every debtor

The first fact that makes the Credit and Debt Exchange proposal irresistible to every debtor is that you'd be offering them an option of paying off 100% of their outstanding debts without spending cash by using their products or services.

The second fact that makes this model absolutely irresistible to every debtor is that you'd be asking them to pay 40 to 60% less than the amount they owe. By paying off their debts using their products or services, they actually end up paying you far less than the amount they owe, even though you end up getting paid 100% of the amount owed.

For example,

let's say a debtor owes you $10 million. Let's also assume that the profit margin on the debtor's products is 40%. If the debtor repays his loan using his products instead of cash, his actual cost to fulfill the $10 million debt will be just $6 million worth of products.

By paying you with $10 million worth of his products instead of using cash, the actual cost to the debtor is only $6 million. You, the creditor, gets paid the full $10 million amount owed. And the cost for the debtor to fulfill this debt obligation is only $6 million. The debtor ends up paying $4 million less than the actual amount owed.

Additionally,

by fulfilling product sales of $10 million, we are directly driving new business and sales revenue from new customers to the debtor at zero marketing cost to the debtor's business. A true win/win scenario!

Do you know of any debtor that will resist an offer for them to pay off their debt obligations using their products or services in such a way that will cause them to actually pay 40% to 60% less than the actual debt owed?

HOW IT WORKS

Step 1.

A creditor sends a debtor in debt distress a proposal, offering the debtor the option of paying off their outstanding debts with the excess products and services that they do have.

Step 2.
The debtor accepts the creditor's proposal and sends a letter of acceptance of the repayment proposal to the creditor.

Step 3.

The debtor sends a conditional bill of sale to the creditor as payment and final settlement of the debt owed (on the condition that it will be converted to cash for the creditor, within a specific timeframe). A bill of sale is a written instrument showing the transfer of ownership of products from the debtor to the creditor, without the physical possession of the products leaving the debtor's company and being delivered to the creditor.

Step 4.

The Creditor transfers the Bill of Sale to the Credit and Debt Exchange in exchange for Trade dollar payment at a 50 to 100% premium.

Step 5.

The Credit and Debt Exchange converts the Trade dollars to tradable financial instrument on behalf of the creditor.

Step 6.

The CDE trades the tradable financial instrument to buyers at a discount for cash, via the Credit and Debt Exchange private marketplace. The buyers of the tradable financial instrument can use these vouchers to take delivery of the value of products stated on their vouchers, or they can also resell these vouchers to other investors or businesses.

Step 7.

The Credit and Debt Exchange pays the cash received from the tradable financial instrument conversion to the Creditor.

Thus, the Creditor is fully paid in cash for the debtor's outstanding debt.
The debtor is equally free from all debt obligations to the creditor, without spending cash directly.
